
MOST OF YOU HAVE probably discovered already that your state income tax will show a healthy (?) increase over last year.

Those of you who haven't yet made this discovery are in for quite a shock when the moment of truth arrives.

Apparently the day is passed when one used to shrug off the state income tax as a mere trifle.

Now one had better plan and budget for it. Or else.

Not only has the tax rate gone up but the tax brackets have been narrowed and a new system of tax credits has been substituted for the personal and dependent exemtions previously used.

But we don't want to take away any of the pleasure (?) from those of you who have not yet had the opportunity to figure out your state income tax.

We suggest, however, that if you have not done so, you had better start figuring soon.

Unless, of course, your family budget is different than ours and has a special category for such contingencies.

Gee, we hope we didn't spoil your dinner.

DURING THE YEARS WE have been at the helm of this newspaper, naturally we have heard a variety of reasons advanced as to why some local residents are not subscribers or regular readers of this community weekly.

What makes us wince, of course, is when a party says "there is nothing in it" after the staff had spent all week putting the paper together.

The most common reasons heard are "we take too many papers now" or "we don't intend to be here long and are not interested in community affairs."

So no matter how hard we try there will not be 100% coverage.

But we keep on trying to do the best job we know how.

But some of the reasons put forth by the non-readers make us gulp more than others

As a f'instance: At a recent City Council meeting a unique reason was put forth by one guy. One we hadn't heard before or have we an answer.

He claimed he only read "union papers". And inasmuch as The Campbell Press did not meet this criteria, he would not read it. Thus he had not been informed as to the community events.

He was especially concerned over a zone-change matter that could possibly affect his property.

But the notice had only appeared in The Campbell Press.

And after all, The Campbell Press has been an "open shop" for 73 years.

"Open" means that both union and non-union people can work along side each other with no restrictions on reading material.

THE STAFF of The Press has been taking bows for the 30-page progress edition that appeared on Feb. 21, the largest ever published by this community newspaper since it was established in 1895.

This year's effort topped the two previous progress editions (1966 and 1967) in many ways. For example, the 1968 version was six pages more than either 1967 or 1966

The staff, from the editorial end, this year tried to vary the stories from the previous progress jobs. But it is getting tougher.

Last year, for example, The Press gave considerable space to churches and schools. This year, lodges, service clubs and the post office received the biggest spread.

Obviously there were those who were critical of our judgment. They felt that their own particular interest should have been covered, even if it meant repeating last year's stories.

But that is only natural. In fact, we expect it. We have found that a surprising number of people are basically

VISION CLINIC--Ray Boswell (left) vice president of the Campbell Jaycees, goes over plans for "Vision Screening Sunday" with Harvey Gogol O.D. area co-ordinating chairman, (center) Santa Clara County Optometric Society and Allan C. Blaine, project chairman, Campbell Jaycees.

This Sunday, March 3

Jaycees sponsor vision clinic

A vision screening Sunday will be held this Sunday, Mar. 3, at Rosemary School under the auspices of the Campbell Jaycees, at which time children three to six years old will be tested free for vision factors which might affect the child's health and behavior.

The screening will be conducted under the supervision of members of the Santa Clara County Optometric Society, assisted by the local Jaycees.

The pre-schoolers will be screened for such vision handicaps as amblyopia, "color blindness", eye diseases, faulty near and distant vision and eye coordination problems.

Ray Boswell, vice president of the Campbell Jaycees and Allan C. Blaine, project chairman, announced that the clinic will be held at Rosemary School, 401 W. Hamilton Ave. from the hours of 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

No fee will be charged for the clinic and free transportation if necessary will be provided by the Jaycees by calling 378-2746.

Serving as Jaycee co-chairman for the local clinic will be Dave Norman.

The clinic will be one of seven sponsored jointly by the Jaycees and the Optometric Society throughout Santa Clara county on Sunday.

Trees dominate Council session

Those boxed trees that were placed along Campbell Ave. last year by the Rotary Club as that club's civic project will soon grace the "temporary" Campbell campus of West Valley College as a result of an intersting "double-play" executed Monday night at the City Council meeting.

The Council, at the suggestion of the Rotary Club, agreed to return the boxed trees to the club. In turn, the club will present the trees to West Valley College.

Trees of the city, past, present and future, took top billing at the Council meeting on Monday.

In addition to accepting the Rotary Club's proposal, the councilmen spent more than one hour discussing point-by-point with Bill Wren, public works director, the proposed street tree ordinance which was developed by the Parks and Recreation Commission after considerable study.

Although the tree ordinance was scheduled for first reading on Monday night, so many modifications and deletions to it were suggested by the councilmen that it necessitated resubmission at the next meeting.

The City Council lost no time in accepting the Rotary Club's proposal that the boxed trees be returned to the club.

As City Manager Bob Stephens explained in a memo to the Council, the city's maintenance department had found it difficult to maintain the type of trees which were placed in those boxes.

Stephens added that within 60 days it was anticipated that work will start on the storm drain project for downtown Campbell which would complicate the maintenance problem even more.

In a letter to Stephens, Bob Bullard, director for community services for the Rotary Club, explained that West Valley College had expressed an interest in acquiring the trees and the boxes and had agreed to do the work involved in transferring them.

The councilmen in the discussion over the proposed tree ordinance were especially concerned over the regulations concerning parkway strips throughout the city.

They agreed with the suggestion that "loose rock" surfacing of the strips should be outlawed but felt that the residents should have a wider choice in landscaping the strips that the proposed ordinance would allow.

The councilmen also deleted the suggestion that the city be responsible for all sidewalk and curb repairs which are necessitated by tree or tree-root encroachments.

This would have changed the current policy which makes the owner responsible if concrete removal and replacement is necessary. The councilmen felt that now was not the time to change the policy.

The councilmen agreed, that the public works department should have the authority to remove dead or diseased trees but all other tree-removals must have the approval of Parks and Recreation Commission, subject to appeal to the City Council.

Good and bad points aired

Congress serves as civic forum

by SALLY HOWE

Last Thursday, while some people were enjoying their regular work routine, while others were hoisting their flag, and while early settlers were preparing for festivities, about 150 serious minded Campbell residents were "congregating" at West Valley College for the second annual Congress for Community Progress.

Welcomed by the Rev. Ben Gould, the general chairman, who jokingly referred to the assemblage as his "congregation", the attending crowd found in short order that there was as much to be thankful for as well as to condemn in their small community.

Back for the second year was Bill Siden, PG&E representative who, as last year, surveyed the town with his camera, and as last year, found it wanting. Siden's criticisms, while veiled in good humor, sharply pointed out, that while Campbell had made great strides (the bond election, street improvements, upgraded new buildings), it still had not learned basic housekeeping (litter, broken fences, unimproved streets).

Building up his audience, but chiding them to get something done, Siden dismissed the group into eight panels, presided over by moderators and including five or six participants.

The audience was told to attend the panel of their choice, and if time permitted, to take in more than one.

We started with "Campbell's Image", which touched on all of the other panels, directly or indirectly. Siden's comments about housekeeping may have resulted in the following recommendation from the "image panel". That the people of the city conduct a CLEAN SWEEP and beautification campaign to involve residents of all ages to be culminated by a community gathering.

As we moved to the "Parks and Recreation panel", we found that the participants, too, were concerned about image and appearance--primarily that of Rincon Park.

One of their final recommendations was that a master plan be adopted so that volunteer organizations and service clubs might undertake elements of the plan. They also expressed concern that Los Gatos Creek development be continued and suggested that the local school districts and city might form a community recreation council.

Somewhat overlapping was the "Social Development and Opportunities" panel which also was concerned with recreation.

The "Community Education" panel touched on the tax structure which presently supports the education system, but the participants pledged financial support of all local education.

They did, however, recommend attention be devoted to vocational training and that leadership in the schools be encouraged to continually assess the relevancy of their programs.

As noted, these five first panels often found themselves talking about the same things from different standpoints.

As we moved from one panel to another, several times we thought we had inadvertently retraced our steps as the trend of conversation was so similar.

Underlying each panel's recommendations were repeated assertations of faith in the future of the community and a desire to "upgrade" and "face-lift".

The three remaining panels also seemed to tie into the first five, but more tangibly. The recommendations of the "Industrial and Commercial" panels concerned street accesses, utility ordinances and the business climate evolving around the financial community.

They touched on the "image" by recommending a "theme" to help promote the Group favors 'loop' plan

Although no specific plan was approved, the newly-formed Downtown Revitalization Committee has forwarded to the City Council the recommendation that the concept of the north and south loop system be developed for the improvement of Campbell Ave.

In making this recommendation, the committee rescinded the action taken by its predecessor, the "redevelopment committee", that favored the widening of Campbell Ave. without the loop plan which was tabbed "proposition II".

Jean Drive tenants win "up-grading" agreement

In a Wednesday night meeting held at the Hamilton School, Jean Drive apartment dwellers and owners met with Campbell City officials and worked out a mutually satisfactory agreement to bring the sub-standard apartments up to standard and up-grade the whole apartment complex.

Tenants of the apartments, were aroused to joint action after having been notified by the owners, represented by the Fidelity Savings and Loan Association, that the rents would be raised as of March 1 and in addition caretaking responsibilities would be placed on the tenants shoulders. The tenants appointed a negotiating committee to meet with the owners to discuss the problems of poor maintenance and broken equipment.

As a result of several meetings, at which Campbell city departments were represented, the owners are now willing to upgrade the apartments and repaint inside and out. Repairing and replacing broken windows, screens, banisters, stoves and carpets will also be carried out.

All repairs will be done to the mutual satisfaction of tenants, owners and the city.

Committee members and tenants also expressed the desire to have the name "Jean Drive Apts" changed in order to escape the bad connotation associated with the name.

Editorial

Congress scores again

Although the attendance at the second annual Congress for Community Progress held last Thursday was not as large as might have been desired, still there was an excellent cross-section representation of this community and, as a result, the Congress was highly effective.

It was so effective that there seems to be no question in any one's mind but that there should be a third Congress next year and perhaps one each year from then on.

Unquestionably the recommendations that were made based on the discussions in the eight panel groups will provide excellent guidelines for the community leaders during the next year.

In our opinion the second Congress was even more successful than the first one which was held in 1967. More "delegates" were registered than last year and there seemed to be more interest and enthusiasm this year than last.

But to us the most important change was the businesslike attitude of the "delegates" and their eagerness to get going.

It was clearly evident that those attending the Congress recognized how valuable it could be to the community as a whole and they all wanted to do their part to make it successful in every way.

And it was successful.

We commend the Rev. Ben Gould and his committee for their excellent planning for making the facilities available for the Congress.

There were many volunteers in addition to the general committee members who were needed to efficiently operate the congress. And these volunteers, headed by the Jaycettes and the Jaycees came through in great style under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce, the general sponsor of the Congress.

But, as was the case in the first Congress, there are areas which can be improved in the next Congress.

As a matter of fact, perhaps an entirely different approach should be used in the third annual Congress for Community Progress that we take for granted will be scheduled in 1969.

Maybe it should be held on two different evenings rather than on a holiday.

Perhaps the registration fee should be lowered.

And there are other questions that we know will be discussed and settled before the next Congress.

But what we think is more important than any changes that may take place is that a continuity be developed from one Congress to the next.

We sincerely hope that many of the committee members who worked so faithfully this year will volunteer to serve again in order to establish this continuity basis.

We hope that the Rev. Ben Gould will agree to serve again as chairman. We are certain that many of the bugs that have been discovered in the first two congresses can be eliminated, if Ben would once more take the helm.

Whether the Rev. Gould would take the job again is problematical but the community would certainly be the beneficiary, if he would.

We sincerely believe that the Congress has become an important facet of our life in the two years it has been in existence. Each succeeding year it should become even more valuable.

It has been said that the City of Campbell became of age in 1967 upon the passage of the civic improvement bonds. Much credit was given the first Congress in 1967 for stimulating the interest of citizens in their community and thus directly or indirectly being responsible for the successful passage of the bonds.

We sincerely believe that Campbell will be a stronger community in every way if an annual Congress is held.

No "teams"

Six candidates have filed for the three seats that are open on the Campbell City Council. The election will be on April 9.

Three of the candidates are the incumbents, Dr. Edward J. Rogers, William S. Smeed and Charles Rose.

But just because there happens to be three other candidates for the Council position, Dean Chamberlin, Robert Dalzell and Henry Batis, it does not mean that either the incumbents or challengers are running as "teams". All three of the challengers seem to be on their own, running simply as individuals.

And, for that matter, the three incumbents, Rogers, Smeed and Rose, have not formed a "team".

And, we think it extremely unlikely that the three of them will form such a "team". In recent months Councilman Rose has moved farther and farther away from the philosophies of all four of his fellow councilmen. We doubt that the differences between Rose and the other councilmen can be reconciled by election time.

The Press plans to present a series of pertinent questions pertaining to city government to each of the six candidates. We hope to publish their answers prior to election.

We sincerely hope that these answers will assist our readers in making their choice on April 9.

selfish. As a rule, they generally acknowledge only in a cursory manner that there are interests in their community other than their own.

And a community newspaper like The Press in trying to touch all the bases, generally misses a couple.

There was nothing, for example, in the 1968 progress edition about the growth and expansion of West Valley College, "temporarily" located in Campbell for the past four years.

And, we understand, there were a few rumbles about that "oversight".

BUT, REALLY KIDS, it was not an oversight. Until that "temporary" label is removed from the Campbell campus and our community becomes more than a mere stop-gap measure as far as the trustees are concerned in their planning, we fail to see that any "progress" is being made in that field locally.

The Press has long emphasized the value of having a college in our community.

The City Council has indicated repeatedly that the City of Campbell will do everything it can to assist in the locating a permanent campus in our midst.

But the Council has also received no firm answer as to how long "temporary" is going to be "temporary".

In our opinion then, until a definite and permanent spot is found for Campbell in any future planning for the college, West Valley College would be out of place in a purely Campbell "progress edition".

Holy smokes, your editor has just accepted appointment to the college advisory committee.

Oh, well, if it is advice that is wanted.....

AFTER BEING OUT OF circulation for six or seven weeks, we found that when we started driving again we had become quite cognizant of the many minor infractions in traffic regulations that people make constantly.

Some of these infractions practically caused us to have a relapse.

ON HEAVILY-TRAVELED Campbell Ave. we almost flipped when we noticed a mother holding tightly to her little kid's hand waiting for a break in the bumper-to-bumper traffic so she could jay-dash across the street. She was only about 20 feet from the cross-walk when she was in her starting blocks.

Speaking of jay-walking.

At the second annual Congress for Community Progress, if tickets had been given out for that violation (jay-walking), some of the top brass of the community would have been bagged.

The sessions for the Congress were held in the West Valley College while lunch was served in the Campbell High cafeteria, across Winchester Blvd. from the college.

Most of those attending the Congress came out the side door of the Congress and made a diagonal bee-line for the high school cafeteria.

The group we were with included most of the city councilmen plus a varied assortment of other civic leaders.

We did not notice whether Police Chief John Morgan or Sgt. John Butler, two Congress panel members, were among the jay-walkers.

But, if they did go to the corner and take the cross-walk, they were the exceptions.

But after lunch it was a different story.

John Morgan had already left when Ben Gould, the general chairman, in his luncheon remarks, made jocular note of this illegal exodus from the college.

We did not notice a single jay-walker on the way back to the college after lunch.

There is a moral here some place.

STERO STOLEN

Stero equipment valued at $685 was reported stolen by Chalmers Lamberson, 1794 Whitwood Lane, Apt. 4, Campbell. According to the police report, the burglary occured Sunday, Feb. 25, when the occupants were away and the apartment was unlocked

Boy hit by car still critical

Paul J. Lawson, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas W. Lawson, 159 Coventry Dr., who was hit by a car as he crossed W. Hamilton Ave., near Darryl Dr. on Feb. 22, is listed in critical condition at O'Connor Hospital.

No complaint has been issued by Campbell Police against the driver, Andres (Andy) V. Sanchez, 31, of 225 Laumer Dr., San Jose. According to police the youngster was riding his bicycle across Hamilton Ave. accompanied by his brother, Mark, and a friend, Mark Borchart, 227 Coventry Dr., aged 9. The boy allegedly lagged behind the other two youngsters, and attempted to catch up with them when he was hit. Sanchez said he swerved his car but was unable to avoid hitting the child.

Paul is a first grader at St. Lucy's School in Campell.

At press time hospital officials said he was still on the critical list in the intensive care unit.

Police secretary leaves March 15

Mrs. Gail Rhodes, secretary to Police Chief John Morgan for the last four years, be leaving her position as of March 15. Mrs. Rhodes, and her four children will be moving to Colville, Washington where her husband has been transferred by his company, a carpet business.

Applications for the position, which requires shorthand, are now being accepted. For more information, contact Campbell City Hall, 75 N. Central Ave., Campbell or telephone 378-8141.

Controversial zone-change issue hits Planners again on Monday

Highlighting the Planning Commission meeting next Monday, March 4, will be scheduled action on the application of Lowell Grattan for a zone change from R-1 (single family) to R-2-S (multiples) on property on the south side of W. Latimer Ave., just east of the San Tomas Expressway.

This marks the second time around for Grattan's application. On Jan. 2, the Commission unanimously approved the zone change.

But the City Council, after once continuing the matter, on Feb. 12, referred the matter back to the Commission for further consideration and recommendation.

The Council's action stemmed from a petition that was presented containing 278 signatures protesting the rezoning.

Another action scheduled for Monday night by the Commission involves the Ray Stroppa property at 73 N. Harrison.

Unhappy with the present use of the property as a storage yard for wrecked or junked automobiles and the unkempt appearance of the lot, the City has initiated a zone change from M-1-S (industrial) or C-2-3 or R-3-S.

Approximately 10 years ago, Stroppa received M-1-S zoning for the parcel. He indicated at the time that he planned to clean up and renovate the area.

Dick Hogan, city planning director, has pointed out that property to the north is zoned R-2-S and to the south C-2-S. Thus the M-1-S zoning, especially in light of plans for revitalization of the downtown core, is not compatible with the present or future development.

Other matters to come before the Planning Commission next Monday includes a return engagement for Robert Meyer and associates. The firm is asking for a zone change from R-1 to R-D(duplex) for property loated on the west side of Virginia between Hacienda and the proposed extension of Bucknam.

The developers were turned down by the City Council for a town-house complex planned for the parcel, after the Planning Commission had approved the necessary zone-change and plans.

At the various hearings that were conducted, residents adjoining the property, objected strenuously to the town house complex. However, some of them indicated that they might not object to one-story duplexes.

In another zone change matter, Jack-in-the-Box Development is asking that property located at Camden and White Oaks be changed from M-1-S to C-2-S. When Highway 17 is completed and new ramps installed, this location would be at the intersection of the off-ramp and Camden.

In other matters scheduled R.L.Dodge is requesting approval of plans for warehouse and office at 863 McGlincey Lane and Joseph J. LaBarbera is seeking a sideyard variance to allow a second story addition at 1602 Sheffield.

community identity.

"Streets, Traffic, Safety and Transportation" panel member Lilyan Brannon gave transportation seekers a shot in the arm with a presentation of a "short lines" bus service plan which she later explained to the entire assembled congress members.

The panel also concerned itself with school safety programs, street and sidewalk improvements and existing bus services.

"Local Government Services" found itself discussing housing, a subject which had also been discussed in the "Social Development" panel.

Zoning, garbage service and communication were defined as major areas of concern.

One unexpected proposal was that a study be initiated to determine if the city should consider a charter form of government.

Attendance in the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Congress, which demanded no affiliation, recommendation, or membership, was disappointingly low to the many who had worked on it. But analysis showed that it was comparable to last year.

Encouraging was the admission by several steering committee members that they had attended the 1967 Congress as a spectator and found themselves enthusiastic about 1968 because of the inroads the first Congress made in community thought and action.

Heavily in attendance were local school personnel, city officials and employees and local businessmen who were enjoying a holiday.

They all vowed to come back in '69.

Funeral services were under the direction of the Dowdle-Emerson Mortuary with interment in the Oak Hill Memorial Park.

TIMOTHY PAUL DAWSON

Funeral services were held Saturday for Timothy Paul Dawson, 13 year old Castro Junior High School student, who died in his home last week, apparently the victim of an accidental hanging.

Police said the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Dawson of 2038 Colusa Ave., San Jose, had been curious about hanging and apparently decided to simulate the act.

Surviving are three brothers, Richard, Phillip and Daniel Dawson and his grandparents, Mrs. C. C. Dawson of Long Beach and Mrs. Pearl Martin of Little Rock, Arkansas. Services were conducted by the Church of Christ of Campbell. Interment was in Los Gatos Memorial Park.

Lane was a retired men's clothing salesman. He also operated cattle ranches on the Rogue River in Oregon before his retirement in 1946 when he came to Campbell. He was a member of the Masons and the Sciots for nearly 50 years.

His wife, Doris, operated a beauty salon on E. Santa Clara St., in San Jose for many years.

In addition to his wife, Lane is survived by his daughter, Mrs. William Bratton, 1412 Arroyo Seco Dr., Campbell, and two grandchildren. The services were held at Oak Hill Mortuary with interment at Oak Hill Memorial Park.

California changes filing requirements for income tax

There have been changes in the filing requirements for the California Personal Income Tax Law, according to Martin Huff, Executive officer of the Franchise Tax Board.

Single persons with an adjusted gross income of $2,750 and married couples with a combined adjusted gross income of $5,500 must file California returns. However, returns are required if the gross income exceeds $6,000, regardless of the amount of the adjusted gross income.

Some 340 thousand Californians made estimated payments of their 1967 State income tax liability last October, Huff said.

Those taxpayers who made an estimated payment should remember to deduct it from their tax when they prepare their 1967 returns and thus avoid an overpayment.

Form 540, the Individual Income Tax Return Form, provides a space in which to enter the amount of estimated tax paid, Huff pointed out.

Huff suggested that Californians should start preparing their tax returns as early as possible in order to give themselves a little extra leeway in case difficulties should arise. Taxpayers who wait until the April 15 deadline frequently do not have time to seek needed assistance, he noted.

14% student enrollment increase at W. V. College

The West Valley College Board of Trustees, at its meeting Thursday night, created 18 new faculty positions for the 1968-69 school year, to meet an expected 8 per cent growth in student population, plus the opening of some classes for the first time at the Saratoga campus.

The action came on the recommendation of the administration. Gordon D. Aumack, Dean of Instruction, said that the present faculty and administrative staff had undertaken an "intensive load study."

As a result, faculty-student loading standards have been changed in areas such as English and foreign languages, Dr. Aumack said, and it will likewise be necessary to employ additional faculty as well.

Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college President, revealed registration figures for the period just completed at the college.

In all, 3,757 day students and 3,266 extended day students enrolled, for a total of 7,023 students, for a 14 per cent increase in student population over the spring semester, 1967.

The Board also approved plans for the swimming pool to be located on the Saratoga campus, reserving the right for some seven alternate bids for additions to the basic pool structure. Estimated base bid was $273,000 from the architectural firms of Reid and Tarics and Higgins and Root. Alternate bids include fencing, an additional window in the pool observation room, underwater lights, pool equipment including two three-metre and one one-metre diving board, play area grading, irrigation and turf, and the choice between a 14-feet deep and 17-feet deep pools.

Overall cost, if all alternates are included in final bids, would amount to an estimated $370,000 architects told the Board. The plans will now go to the State Division of Architecture for review, and upon their return, will be out to bid, probably in early April.

The Board also:

Approved payment of claims totaling $98,980.69.

Approved changes in the catalogues for new and changed titles for courses, including "Personal and Family Finance," changed from the Home Economics for the Business Division; three "Circuits and Systems" courses in the Engineering and Technology Division to be offered for the first time in the Extended Day Division, and two new courses "Field of Electronics", and "Introduction to Statistics".

Approved acceptance of two gifts. One was a lathe and grinder to be used by the maintenance staff and donated through the good offices of former Board member, Dr. Edwin C. Browne, by Mrs. Elizabeth Harrington, 463 San Benito Ave., Los Gatos.

The other gift was a signal generator and a box of component parts donated to the college by Sylvania Electronics Systems, and valued at $2,227.50

The Board made a routine approval of the calendar for the 1968-69 school year, and approved creation of the position of Computer Operator at a salary of $530-$644 per month.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

One of the least understood, but one of the most vital problems facing this nation, is its gold supply and the related balance of payments problems.

The United States has always maintained a large gold supply for two reasons. First, we must be prepared to pay foreign nations what we owe them in gold. Without this ability, confidence in the U.S. dollar would deteriorate. Secondly, by law, all federal reserve notes (such as our $1 bills) must be backed by at least 25% of their face value in gold.

U.S. gold reserves have been seriously declining. Whereas President Kennedy announced they stood at $17.5 billion in 1961, today our gold reserves stand at only $11.884 billion–less than 40% of the $32 billion in claims held by foreign nations against U.S. gold stocks.

With several billions of the $11.884 billion reserve earmarked for the purpose of backing U.S. federal reserve notes, only a limited amount was available for foreign claims. A "run" and a serious international monetary crisis was likely.

So President Johnson asked Congress to remove the "gold cover" or the requirement that federal reserve notes be backed up to 25% in gold.

There is merit to President Johnson's argument that this action would not take us off the gold standard, for the truth is we have not been on the gold standard since 1933. It is also true that the gold reserve is not needed to give value to the dollar because that is based upon our economy. The President was also correct in saying the world needed assurance that this country would meet its international economic obligations. Why then did I vote "no" on repeal of the 25% reserve requirement?

Federal spending has increased by 80% since 1960. Non-defense spending has increase by 52% since 1965 and in the same period federal employment has increased by 20%. In the last eight years this country will have accumulated an increased deficit of $63 billion! Such a domestic fiscal policy has contributed much to the international lack of confidence in our dollar. But that policy won't change by removing the gold cover!

The balance of payments has been badly mishandled. We have consistently paid out more in international transactions than we have taken in. Our exports have exceeded our imports and we should have been making money, but we have allowed other nations to buy from us with money we have loaned them at low rates of interest. Often the loans have not been repaid, nor has the interest. Then we've spent billions maintaining a military presence in other countries. This lopsided foreign trade has caused increasing demands upon our gold supply and brought about the present crisis.

Some restraint simply must be placed against an administration which insists upon spending beyond its means and continuing an international trade policy adverse to U.S. interests. To remove the gold reserve requirement would make it possible for the administration to continue its "spend as usual" policies. The time is long overdue for the administration to face the real problem and act to correct the real causes of our unfavorable balance of payments.

CEREMONY ON THURSDAY–Dedication ceremonies and educational open house will be held Thursday, Feb. 29, at 10:30 a.m. for Santa Clara County's new West Valley Health Center. The center is located on Capri Drive near the courthouse at the Campbell city limits.

Ceremony tomorrow dedicates West Valley Health Center

Public dedication ceremonies and an educational Open House featuring a building-wide exhibit will be held Thursday, Feb. 29 at 10:30 a.m. at the County Health Department's new West Valley Mental Health Center on Capri Drive, in Los Gatos at the Campbell city limits.

Refreshments will be donated by the Santa Clara County Association for Mental Health.

The Dedication Address will be given by Board of Supervisors Chairman Ralph H. Mehrkens. The acceptance will be delivered by County Public Health Director W. Elwyn Turner, M.D.

Principal speaker will be William B. Beach, M.D. deputy director, State Department of Mental Hygiene. Master of Ceremonies will be William H. Deal, Coordinator of Community Services at West Valley College.

The Invocation and Benediction will be said by the Rev. Shirley T. Sherrill, pastor of Cambrian Park Methodist Church and the Rev. Daniel J. Sheehan, assistant pastor, St. Lucy's Roman Catholic Church, Campbell.

Music for the ceremonies will be provided by the Los Gatos High School band under Paul V. Bostwick, director.

Others expected to be on hand will be County Supervisors Sig Sanchez, Charles A. Quinn, Sam P. Della Maggiore and Martin J. Spangler; County Executive Howard W. Campen; Los Gatos Mayor Egon Jensen; Saratoga Mayor William E. Glennon; Campbell Mayor Dr. Edward Rogers and Monte Sereno Mayor Dr. Stephen P. Dorman.

Leon W. Grossman, president of the Santa Clara County Association for Mental Health; John Rieger, III, M.D., Chairman of the Health and Welfare Commission and Mrs. William H. Lawrence, chairman of the Mental Retardation Commission.

The $162,600 single-story structure has 6,000 square feet of floor space. Built of reinforced concrete, it is stressed to bear a second story in the event expansion is needed.

The West Valley Center is one of three new buildings designed around ultramodern concepts of community mental health. Current practice utilizing family and other group therapy, individual treatment and consultation, plus the new pharmaceutical agents make non-institutional care possible, according to psychiatrist Dasil C. Smith, M.D., Assistant Director of Mental Health for the County.

Dr. Smith pointed out that non-institutionalized care causes less stress because patients are not separated from their families. It also keeps patients' learning-power and talent in the home community, and avoids the psychological dependency often caused by long periods of treatment in an institution.

The County operates five branch centers for mental health, including the three new facilities of West Valley, Central in San Jose and El Camino in Sunnyvale. The remaining two are the North and South County branches located in Palo Alto and San Martin which have been in operation for several years.

Tonight Is Signup Night

The Campbell-Moreland Pony League invites all interested boys to register for the 1968 baseball season tonight at Castro Jr. High, between 7 and 9 p.m. Any boy whose birthdate falls between Aug. 1, 1953 and July 31, 1955 is eligible for this baseball season.

Both a birth certificate and a parental signature are needed.

Castro Jr. High is located off Campbell Ave. between Fallbrook Ave. and Castro Dr.

Plays offered at WV College

"The Typist" and "The Tiger" a pair of one-act comedies that set a continuous performance record in New York, comprise the "double-feature" program to be offered at 2:30 and 8 p.m., March 1, at West Valley College, under the auspices of the Office of Community Services

The twin hits, which launched author Murray Schisgal on a playwriting career which includes the Broadway hit "Luv", will be staged here by the Players Production Company of Los Angeles.

Co-starring in the two-character comedies are Mary Craver and Woodrow Pafrey, veterans of Broadway and Hollywood. Director is Joseph Sargent, considered a top Hollywood director, with such credits as "The Invaders" and and "The Girl from U. N. C. L. E." on television.

Ticket information for this show can be obtained by calling the Office of Community Services at West Valley College, 379-1733, Ext. 58.

WVC enrollment now hits 6,794

Active enrollment for the current spring semester at West Valley College is 6,794 students, according to Donald R. Ziegler, dean of admissions and records.

This compares to the active enrollment for the first week of the fall semester, which was 6,585 students, Ziegler said.

"These figures readily indicate a sustained interest in the educational programs at West Valley College and likewise indicates some measure of success in the Admissions Office efforts to bring back to the West Valley campus students who formerly were given releases to attend junior college elsewhere," Ziegler said.

"Much of the success of these efforts was due in part to a continuing effort to provide additional courses and sections of existing courses to meet ever-growing student needs," he said.

TAX COURSE

In response to what has become a popular demand, a second class in "Personal Income Tax" will start in the Extended Day division of West Valley College on Wednesday, March 6 at 7 p.m. in Room G-12 at the college.

Garden Hill Dr closes as entry to Vasona Park

Garden Hill Drive will be closed as a through street and as an entrance to Vasona Park in Los Gatos beginning March 11.

Traffic will be directed to the Blossom Hill Road entrance to the park by way of Lark and University Avenues or by way of the San Jose-Los Gatos Road to Blossom Hill Road.

FIGHT CANCER with a CHECK-UP

Q. - Does blood in bowel movements indicate cancer?

A. - Not necessarily. There are other possibile causes for blood to appear in bowel movements, but cancer is the most important one. This is a significant Danger Signal and a physician should be consulted promptly.

Q. - Does blood in the urine indicate cancer?

A. - Not necessarily, but only a physician can diagnose the cause of blood in the urine.

Q. - Does a lump under the arm or elsewhere mean cancer?

A. - Not necessarily, but such lumps should be promptly examined by a physician.

Q. - Is pain an early warning signal?

A. - No. It is usually a late symptom. If any danger signal is present one should not wait for pain before seeing a physician.

Q. - If a person has been cured of cancer, can he develop another cancer? In the same place? In some other part of the body?

A. - Yes, to all three questions. Therefore, regardless of the past medical history, in-medical history, including the cure of a previous cancer, such a person should be examined at regular intervals for the rest of his life, just as should those who have never had cancer.

Q. - Are many cancers being cured?

A. - Cancer can be cured every day by surgery and/or radiation More than 1,200,000 Americans are alive today who once had cancer and are cured, providing living proof of the effectiveness of early detection and prc early detection and proper medical treatment.

Q. - How should cancer be treated?

A. - It should be treated by competent physicians Surgery and/or radiation are necessary to obtain cures. Radiation is produced by x-ray machines, racium machines, radium, radioactive materials, the cobalt unit, the betatron and others. Hormones and chemical agents may also be used in treating some types of cancer. Hormones and drugs themselves do not cure cancer, but they are often effective aids to surgery and radiation in relieving pain and prolonging life, sometimes for very long periods. Cancer should never be treated with so-called "home remedies" or "secret cures."

Camden Capers

By Caren Daniels

Following two weeks of preparation, senior government students are nearly ready to embark upon a new type of learning program, entitled "Internation Simulation". More realistic than the game they played of "Crisis", students have been divided into groups of four, and will be in charge of a real nation.

Chosen from a list of 22 different countries, groups have become concerned with setting goals and preparing a draft of foreign policy objectives of the nation, discovering which countries are allies and enemies and how the nation stands on basic issues. United Nations leaders have been selected by Instructos Finck and McBain. Secretary Generals will be Bob Bebb, Don Witek, Kirk Cunningham, Burl Well and Paul Willis.

In conjunction with these projects, two carloads of students were taken to San Francisco on Friday, Feb. 23, to visit various consolate offices for any information, pamphlets and maps available. Mr. Finck and McBain took the driver education station wagons on the journey, leaving about 8:30 a.m. and returning at approximately 4:30 p.m.

Accreditation of our campus has been taking place much of the year, and the majority of the job is now being completed. In order for high school grades to be accepted for college entrance, the school must be accredited. Student surveys, teacher questionaires and various employee evaluations have been taken, and the results are being compiled into a book, to be available in the office of Director of Activities Filice. One last phase of the evaluation will be conducted around the campus soon, when various students will be interviewed.

SPORTS

Campbell met Camden last Wednesday night in a basketball game. We were defeated by a score of 61-41.

The Campbell wrestling team came out of the league finals at Los Gatos with three first place league winners. They are Bruno Bicocca at 145 lbs., Mike Moore at 165 lbs. and Pat Wheeler at 112 lbs. Mike Walker also took a third at 95 lbs. Campbell took a fifth.

The team had only three wrestlers attending the Central Coast section meet in Gonzales. The Section had 88 schools participating and Campbell took fifth place. Individually Bruno Bicocca took a first and Mike Moore took a second. The schools that participated were from San Francisco to King City. It was an exciting meet for Campbell.

DISNEYLAND PARADE

The Campbell Buc Band was invited to attend the annual Disneyland Parade in Disneyland this Easter vacation. The band will spend three days there. Mr. William Perkins the band director, anticipates a great time for all members.

Westmont Whirl

By Laura Vierra

The KLIV Prunes scored another victory over the Westmont Team Club Advisors. The final score was 93-76. It was a rough competition by both teams and was attended by a large crowd. The game was followed by a dance with the "People" as the featured band. A crowd of over 1,100 kids rocked to the way-out music.

Pop's Concert is coming March 8 and 9 with entertainment offered by Westmont's dance band, Satin Dolls, Flag-girls and orchestra.

Westmont's Girls' Sports candy sale will begin this Friday in hopes of making it a successful money project.
